Description The ASME Section IX is dedicated to the safe design and safe installation, commissioning, inspection, operation, and maintenance of large pressure vessels, high pressure boilers, industrial coal-fired, oil-fired, and 5G to play a role with mobile smart sensors and the Internet of Things. But what's even more important, is that this will also include the Chinese government's interest in this technology. Since the days of the Chinese Civil War, the government has shown us repeatedly that it is perfectly able to control information and censor content. And for a country as big as China, with such a population, the ambition to control data is massively ambitious. And in today's digital world, the internet connection is that gateway for the country. It not only works for information, but also for traditional content. The Chinese government wants to control the data being relayed over the internet. Not only content, but also the speed at which people will read, what books they will read and for how long. This will only increase during the Olympic Games. The government has something quite specific in mind: "monitoring and censoring". And it's going to use the technology already developed to control and censor in order to make its citizens proud. Be part of a team The final communication between the Chinese people and the Chinese government is through its citizens. It's the final way for the Chinese government to control who and what they want to control. And it will be monitored by the government. It is in this way that the government wants to inspire its citizens. Its citizens are being asked to accept its influence in their lives and to accept its state control. This is what China is trying to do during the Olympic Games. Chinese censorship This system of control has been used for a long time, and over the years, it's evolved. Some of it is known, while other parts are still unknown. But as with every monitoring system, it has an aim. It's not only monitoring each others' activities, but also just about what Chinese citizens are doing. It's all about creating a community of Chinese citizens who are united by the shared use of the internet. This is what China really wants to make happen during the Olympic Games. And because this technology has already been developed, the country
